

What is your time worth?

Locating and coordinating a builder, an architect, and a real estate agent that understand the unique needs of your dental practice can be daunting.

Working with Van Con will allow you to spend more time with your patients and less time in meetings.

Our office designs improve patient treatment experience, reduce operating expenses, and seamlessly integrate your dental equipment.

We deliver projects with 30% fewer meetings and a two-year construction warranty.

Improved Patient Experience

Indirect lighting, soothing color selections, and low noise levels reduce patient apprehension and improve their treatment experience.

Improved Operating Efficiency

Understanding the patient treatment sequence, travel distance, and frequency of tasks are just three factors we consider when developing your floor plan. An efficient floor plan also lowers overall square footage, in turn reducing construction and/or lease expenses. We also conduct pre-construction energy audits and recommend high efficiency mechanical and electrical equipment that can reduce operating expenses.

Seamless Integration with Equipment Suppliers

Including dental equipment suppliers early in the design process ensures that your water, nitrous, air, sanitary lines, and equipment blocking are properly located according to their templates. Early involvement also eliminates overlap and miscommunications in the field. In addition, we integrate the supplier's scope into the master schedule so that equipment is ordered in time for immediate installation.

Site Selection

A dedicated Realtor* on our team can locate land, a building, or tenant space for purchase or lease, negotiate competitive terms, and help you analyze demographics, traffic counts, and competitors.
